Welcome to “Une Journee a Paris,” or “A Day in Paris!” What a wonderful way to celebrate one of the most unprecedented years filled with virus, social distancing, and masks. And after weeks of a world spent at home, and dance classes could finally resume, I could not cease imagining sitting outside a coffee shop fresh breeze, warm croissant and cinnamon cappuccino in hand...all with people bustling about. That exact scene can happen right here in Omaha...but also across the pond next to the Eiffel Tower!

So what a better way to end our year with a celebration of dance in Paris with chefs, mimes, artists, and a café!

And what a team we have to help make this, and all of our concerts this year come to life! From our production team hanging backdrops, creating lights, sound and props.....to our amazing studio team... Jen and Meghan at the front desk not only making sure everyone gets to their classes and back to their car safely, but taking temperatures, sorting costumes, answering phones, and anything else that may arise...the amazing Nik, who does it all from billing, answering your questions, taking care of the building, and even helping us with several of our classes and rehearsals....the beautiful, talented and amazing instructors and choreographers who are masters in their field – Michael James, Mimi Lawry, Stephanie Darr, Nikki McMullen, Taylor Hanna, Biannah Peji-Palm and Katie Aguilar. The years of training, expertise, talent and passion from this list if artists could fill twelve football fields and beyond. It is an honor to be their colleague and friend. Most importantly, it is our students that are the stars, the focus, and the main reason we are all here. Here’s to THEM! The ones who have endured this past year of change and uncertainty yet, are the ones entering our building with infectious positive energy with the desire to be artists in spite of any pandemic that may get in their way. They are our heroes and we salute them.

So BRAVO to a year of amazing artists whose love for dance rises above any barrier that may keep them away. And to YOU, the parents who support and love them. We salute you.

And a reminder we have many exciting events on the calendar for students and parents!! Students interested in auditioning for the student dance company, Rose Dance Project and/or Rose Brigades have auditions Sat. June 5! And be sure to join us Sat. June 12 for our STUDIO OPEN HOUSE! Parents and guests are invited into our amazing new facility for tours, performances of our Rose Dance Project, Rose Brigade, sample classes, and so much more!! Don’t hesitate to contact Nik Whitcomb, Mimi Lawry, or myself with questions.

And now, grab your imaginary café and baguette! It’s time to spend Une Journee a Paris!
